MARSULEX LICENSEE WINS FIRST AMMONIUM SULFATE FGD CONTRACT IN CHINA

Lebanon, Pennsylvania – March 6, 2009 – Marsulex Environmental Technologies (MET) has announced the first project award in the People's Republic of China utilizing MET's proprietary ammonium sulfate flue gas desulfurization (AS-FGD) technology. This project was awarded through its licensee, Wuhan Kaidi Electric Power Environmental Company.

The Qilu Petrochemical Company, a subsidiary of China Petroleum & Chemical Company (SINOPEC), located in Shandong Province, will be supplied with two 200 MW capacity FGD absorbers. MET's wet ammonium sulfate FGD technology is a system that efficiently utilizes ammonia reagent to convert SO<sub>2</sub> emissions into a valuable, high quality, commercial grade crop fertilizer. The Qilu FGD is designed to remove in excess of 95% of the boilers' sulfur dioxide emissions.

MET President, Robert Cardell, said, "The Qilu project is the first application of our commercially proven AS-FGD technology outside of North America. Our AS-FGD system, which has now been demonstrated on a full-scale basis for over a decade, provides customers with a significant pay-back of capital and operational costs via the sale of the fertilizer by-product. With our track record of success in North America and this first project in China, we look forward to further projects, both domestic and international."

Marsulex Environmental Technologies (MET) is one of the world's leading providers of FGD systems. MET FGD systems service over 77,000 megawatts of power generation in 22 countries. MET is a subsidiary of Marsulex Inc., a Toronto-based public company with shares listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange, trading under the symbol MLX.
